

Ontolog Summit 2012
Session 12
Organizing the 'Big'
Communiqué

Ali Hashemi
Todd Schneider
29 March 2012

Agenda

1. Framing the Theme
2. Revise / Augment the Draft Outline
3. Review Track Contributions (quickly) – Track Champions
4. Mapping/Melding Contributions to Outline (All)
5. Wrap-up / Follow-up Actions - (co-chairs)

Expectations

- Outline Finalized
- Majority of Track Contributions mapped to Outline (or at least a crude mapping or maybe just a paradigm for completion)
 - Track Champions will be key cartographers for their track
- Initial Draft of Summit Communiqué
- This session last just 1 ½ hours

Prerequisites

- Sense of Humor
- Track Champions have their track's contributions handy for reference and cutting-n-pasting into the chat board.

1. Theme

- Possible overarching, coordinating, organizing theme
 - Explicit Semantics
 - Information to Knowledge

2. Review/Revise Outline

- Description
 - Goals
 - Process
- Summary
- Introduction
- Current State
 - Current Problems
 - Current Uses
- Potential State/Areas of Use
 - Modeling, Systems Engineering, etc.
 - Constraints on Use
- Recommendations
- Conclusion

3. Track Contributions

- Track 1 & 2 - Ontology for Big Systems and Systems Engineering
- Track 3 - Challenge: Ontology and Big Data
- Track 4 - Large-scale Domain Applications
- Cross-Track-A1: Ontology Quality and Large-Scale Systems
- Cross-Track-A2: Ontology for Federation and Integration of Systems

4. Map Contributions

- First pass is a crude mapping to see where things may fit relative to the outline and theme
- Real-time editing will be done via GoogleDocs (Lead Editors only)
- Place suggested contributions into chat board for inclusion in the document/map

5. Wrap Up – Action Items

- Transform draft communiqué / map into coherent document – Posted by 4 April 2012
- Provide transformed master piece for community review – Comments due by 8 April 2012
 - Change requests must provide actionable change (i.e., provide your suggested change)
 - Review comments/change requests must provide section and line numbers
