

An ontology is a living artifact that is born inside an organizational context, has a life-cycle and is interacted with by various agents

